Chrome plating is a vital part of Western Reman's operations. Original dimensions are restored through a controlled process of chrome plating, precision grinding and polishing. We have the ability to plate and grind shafts up to 16 feet in length.

Chrome plating adds hardness, resists abrasion, and reduces friction. Not only does it restore components back to their original dimensions, it is the only process that does so without causing distortion or imparting detrimental surface stress.

Whether you service CAT, Cummins, Detroit Diesel, Waukesha, or other mid to large gas or diesel engines, let WRI show you how we can add value to your parts at a competitive price.
